Court Rules State Can Take Cude Children

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that the state has a right to take custody of children whose parents will not have them vaccinated so they can attend school.

The ruling affirmed Polk County Chancellor Wesley Howard in a suit filed by the state against Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cude of near Mena.

The Cudes contended that vaccination was in violation of their religious beliefs. Howard held and the Supreme Court agreed that constitutional guarantees of religious freedom do not permit parents to deny their children an education on religious grounds.

The three Cude children involved in the suit are Wayne, 12; Delia, 10, and Linda May, 8. Wayne attended school through the second grade. The other two have not been to school at all.

Five other Cude children were not involved in the suit.

Howard's order calls for the state Welfare Department to take custody of the children, have them vaccinated, enroll them in school and then offer to return custody to Cude. Cude said while the suit was pending that he would not take the children.

Italian Reds Against China Showdown

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—The big Italian Communist party has come out against Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call for a showdown meeting on the Soviet-Chinese struggle, warning that it might cause a formal split in the international Red movement.

The Italian Communists made plain, however, that they are against Peking and might change their position depending on developments.

The statement, published in the Communist organ L'Unita, noted that the party had opposed a world showdown meeting all along and had suggested that individual Communist parties should thresh out differences in bilateral talks.

The renewed opposition from the largest Communist party in the West underscored reports from Budapest that Khrushchev is receiving lukewarm support from some allies in his battle with the Red Chinese.

Khrushchev had predicted that his call last week for a showdown session would rally all Communists. So far only the Hungarian and Bulgarian parties have pledged him all-out support.

Many fence-sitting Communist parties outside the Soviet orbit are apprehensive over the prospect of an open break between the two Communist giants. They the Kremlin at this uncertain stage.

Khrushchev launched a new attack on the Red Chinese Sunday, accusing them of trying to incite the Soviet people against him.

"For this purpose," he told a crowd of about 80,000 in the Hungarian steel city of Miskolc, "they invented accusations against me."

"But I am not ashamed of these charges. I am proud of them. They bring me only pride and honor."

The Chinese accused Khrushchev last week of being "the greatest capitalist of all time," a tool of the United States and too concerned with raising Soviet living standards.

Khrushchev retorted that after the deprivations of Stalin's time, he was helping the Soviet people "to begin to live like human beings."

"If our people begin to be better dressed, to have better shoes, to be better fed, to have better houses, to increase their incomes toward satisfaction of their needs and cultural requirements, that is, to begin to live like human beings, that is the rebirth," he said.

18 Deaths by Accident in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mrs. N. B. Lewis, 51, of Marianna was killed and three persons were seriously injured Sunday in a two-car head-on collision on U.S. 79 about 16 miles east of Marianna.

During the week ended at midnight Sunday, there were 18 accidental deaths in the state.

State police said Alf Golden, 55, of Marianna, driver of the car in which Mrs. Lewis was riding, was in critical condition as was an occupant of the other car, Doris Griffith of Memphis.

Golden, the Memphis woman and Houston Cawthon of Forest Cave, Ky., an occupant of the Griffith car, were hospitalized at Memphis.

During the week, 11 persons died in traffic accidents, two died in a fire, one man died from an accidental gunshot wound, one man was crushed by falling logs, two died in a plane crash, and one person was electrocuted.

Rules Out Jury Trial for Gov. of Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court decided today Gov. Paul B. Johnson J., and former Gov. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi are not entitled to a jury trial on criminal contempt charges.

Both were charged with contempt of court for their actions in 1962 when James H. Meredith, Negro, sought to enroll at the University of Mississippi.

Barnett was governor at that time and Johnson was lieutenant governor.

Johnson won the election to succeed Barnett and was inaugurated as governor on Jan. 21.

Justice Tom C. Clark delivered the 5-4 decision. Justice Arthur J. Goldberg wrote a dissenting opinion, in which Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William O. Douglas joined. Another dissenting opinion was written by Justice Hugo L. Black, and Douglas joined in it.

The contempt charges followed an order by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans, La., that Mississippi state officials not interfere with Meredith's admission. Barnett and Johnson were accused of ignoring the order.

Federal marshals and troops were used to get Meredith into the university in September 1962. He has since been graduated.

The governor and lieutenant governor demanded a jury trial of the charges, but the Circuit Court deadlocked 4-4 on that question. The ninth Circuit Court judge was ill and did not vote. Thus stymied, the Circuit Court asked the Supreme Court to decide the issue.

Saenger Distributes Green Sheet

A new film information service has been announced by the Manager of the Saenger Theatre. Mrs. Seaman stated that she is now distributing a quantity of the well-known film publication, The Green Sheet, which contains the composite reviews of ten prominent organizations represented on The Film Estimate Board of National Organizations.

Mrs. Seaman will provide free copies of The Green Sheet to regular patrons, to organization leaders, to schools, to religious leaders and to other interested citizens. Anyone wishing to receive The Green Sheet regularly may leave his name and address at the boxoffice of the Saenger Theatre.

Representatives of the following organizations serve on The Film Estimate Board: American Jewish Committee, American Library Association, Federation of Motion Picture Councils, General Federation of Women's Clubs, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Council of Women of the U.S.A., National Federation of Music Clubs, Daughters of the American Revolution, Protestant Motion Picture Council and Schools Motion Picture Committee.

The Motion Picture Review Committees of these national organizations screen all of the important domestic and some foreign films independently preparing their reviews. These are then discussed and compiled into a "film estimate" which represents the composite reviews of all members. The Green Sheet is made available with the cooperation of the Motion Picture Association of America.

In addition to the reviews, The Green Sheet suggests suitable audiences. These range from General Audience (GA) to Adult (A), including special categories for Young People (YP) and Mature Young People (MYP). Occasionally when a film is suitable for young children, it is labeled with a special children's rating (C).

Mrs. Seaman states, "The Green Sheet is a reliable source of unbiased information about our latest movies. It assists adults in their selection of film entertainment and also assists parents in fulfilling their responsibility to guide their own children to the most suitable and enjoyable movies. Thoughtful selection of motion pictures is one way to be sure that movie going will always be a pleasure."

Gop Leaders Pleased With Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Southern Republican leaders are applauding Winthrop Rockefeller's announcement that he will run for governor of Arkansas, but a note of discord appeared in the state GOP.

Party leaders in other Southern states unanimously agreed that Rockefeller's decision, announced Saturday, is an indication of the growing Republican strength in the South.

But the Arkansas Republican chairman, William Spicer of Fort Smith, said barely four hours after Rockefeller's announcement that the party is dead in Arkansas.

After a meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee, in which pro-Rockefeller forces rained a seat needed to give them control, Spicer said the Arkansas GOP was nothing more than "a Rockefeller club."

Spicer, leader of a small group of old guard Republicans, said the action kills the GOP in Arkansas and added that the party split would make it difficult for Rockefeller to defeat.

Beckwith Is Going to Trial Again

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Byron De La Beckwith, a crusading segregationist, goes to court today for a retrial on charges he killed Negro integration leader Medgar Evers.

The first trial of the ex-Marine fertilizer salesman from Greenwood, Miss., ended Feb. 7 with a hung jury. The all-white jury had deliberated for 11 tense hours, finally splitting 6-6.

Whites and Negroes alike were surprised. Most had expected a quick acquittal.

Beckwith, 43, is accused of shooting Evers from ambush when the Negro leader returned home last summer from a civil rights meeting. Evers, 37, was state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The slaying last June 11, Beckwith's arrest 11 days later and the impact of the first trial stirred deep racial passions in this Southern state—which has the highest percentage of Negroes in the nation.

Beckwith, whose hobbies are gun collecting and passing out hard-core Citizens Council Literature, has been in jail since his arrest.

The prosecution says it may offer some new evidence in the retrial; the defense refuses to say if it plans any new witnesses or exhibits.

Death Takes Gen. MacArthur; U.S., World in Tribute

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation—and much of the world—began paying a hero's homage today to Douglas MacArthur, gallant old soldier who has faded away.

The rugged heart of the 84-year-old general of the Army, which had kept beating through three grievous operations, was still at 2:39 p.m. EST Sunday at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D.C.

Soon thereafter the body of the man who etched his name on so much history—St. Mihiel, Bataan, Corregidor, New Guinea, Manila, Tokyo and Inchon—began a historic funeral journey into a starlit night.

The body was brought by motor hearse to this city—where he had lived in a hotel suite since coming home from the wars 13 years ago. Until Tuesday morning the body will be at the Universal Funeral Chapel.

Then, from 10 a.m. Tuesday until 10 p.m. it will lie in repose at the famous old 7th Regiment Armory on Park Avenue, a great brick building with battlements and towers, and filled with the trophies of many heroes.

On Wednesday, the body will be returned by train to Washington. From 3:30 that afternoon until noon Thursday it will lie in state in the Capitol rotunda, where so recently the body of the martyred President John F. Kennedy also reposed.

Then, by military plane it will be flown to the naval city of Norfolk, Va., for funeral services in St. Paul's Episcopal church and burial in the MacArthur Memorial nearby. All along the funeral journey there will be the military pageantry reserved for the nation's great.

The general had expressed a wish to be buried in Norfolk, because there his mother, the former Mary Pinckney Hardy, was born, reared and married. The city has fashioned, out of a 14-year-old courthouse, a memorial to MacArthur, a museum for his memorabilia, and a mausoleum for his remains.

There are the famous crunched campaign hat, with its scrambled eggs insignia, and one of the cornucopia pipes that were his trademark.

There, too, above the tomb that will receive him, is this inscription:

Japan Leads World in Last Tribute

TOKYO (AP)—A saddened Japan led the world tribute today to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, its wartime conqueror who led it to peace, prosperity and democracy.

A sense of sorrow also swept the Philippines and South Korea, two other Asian nations in whose destinies MacArthur was deeply involved, at the news of his death.

The Japanese government sent the nation's most beloved elder statesman, former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, to represent Japan at MacArthur's funeral.

"I cannot forget the great achievement of the general in rebuilding our nation out of the ashes of defeat," said Yoshida. "Out of the stringent food shortages, out of the confusion of our political, economic and social systems, and out of the insecurity of men's hearts, MacArthur laid the foundations for a new Japan which became the source of our nation's prosperity today."

In a message to President Johnson, Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda said the Japanese respected MacArthur "not only as a soldier but as a friend." Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako also sent their condolences.

On the streets of Japan, people remembered MacArthur particularly for bringing in huge quantities of food in the immediate postwar months to feed a destitute population.

Tributes From All Over to MacArthur

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tributes have been paid in all parts of the country to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur—called by President Johnson "one of the most distinguished soldiers in the history of the United States."

Johnson, ordering the nation's flags flown at half-staff until after the funeral next Saturday, said MacArthur was "a living embodiment of the code he so eloquently expressed—duty-honor-country."

Former President Harry S. Truman, who fired MacArthur from all his commands in a dispute over conduct of the Korean War, said he was "deeply sorry at the passing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has given of himself with exceptional strength and valor and will be remembered as one of the great military men in our history."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., called MacArthur "one of America's greatest soldiers and one of its finest citizens."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, an opponent of Goldwater for the Republican nomination for president, said MacArthur's "brilliant leadership and heroic patriotism were in the highest tradition of this nation."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said MacArthur was "a true giant on the American and world scene—liberator of the Philippines, architect of victory in the Pacific and creator of modern Japan."

Tributes also came from two other former presidents, Herbert Hoover, who named MacArthur chief of staff in 1931, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who twice served on MacArthur's staff.

Calling MacArthur "a great man, a great general and a great patriot," Hoover said "the world is a finer place for his having lived in it."

Eisenhower said, "Through a long lifetime of service he earned the admiration and respect of his fellow citizens and the personal devotion of those he led in battle."

Among the many other military leaders who paid tribute to MacArthur was Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who shared the Pacific command in World War II. He praised MacArthur's "qualities of military character, leadership and administrative skill."

Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, quoting from a speech made by MacArthur after the recapture of Corregidor in 1945, said:

"His courage was as high as the flag his troops raised; 'Hoist the colors to its peak and let no enemy haul them down.'"

Conqueror Was Always Respected

By RELMAN MORIN

Associated Press Writer

"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

Toward 1:30 in the afternoon, people began to gather on the sidewalk. They clustered on both sides of the steps leading to the main entrance of the Dai Ichi Insurance Co. building in downtown Tokyo.

Presently, a tall man hurried through the high-linted entrance. He walked with long, swiftness strides. He returned the salutes of the two giant American sentries—always specially chosen for stature—and went down the steps, two at a time, to a waiting limousine.

You heard a murmur, "Mah-kah-sah."

The people were Japanese and they pronounced the man's name in Japanese fashion, "Mah-kah-sah."

his shoulder so that she could see over the crowd. Some bowed. There were instances when very old-fashioned Japanese would kneel, touching their foreheads on the sidewalk in the "ko-tow," the traditional Oriental act of obeisance.

They had come to see Gen. Douglas MacArthur. This was in September 1945.

This was during the years of the American military occupation of Japan. MacArthur, directing it, worked seven days a week and not infrequently seven nights a week. He kept more or less regular office hours. The Tokyo people became aware of his schedule. Thus, through more than five years, the odd little tableau on the sidewalk repeated itself every day.

Ordinary curiosity no doubt prompted it in part.

Here was the conqueror. Here was the man who had destroyed a mystic belief, held for nearly 2,000 years, that Japan was invincible in war. And here was the supreme authority in Japan, Zeus Olympian in the uniform of the United States Army.

At the time, MacArthur's gigantic image rested largely on his record as a soldier.

"MacArthur was the greatest general and best strategist that the war produced. He certainly outshone Marshall, Eisenhower and all other American and British generals including Montgomery."

The estimate comes from Field Marshal Lord Alan Brooke, wartime chief of the British Imperial General Staff, a man not given to lavishing praise on other commanders.

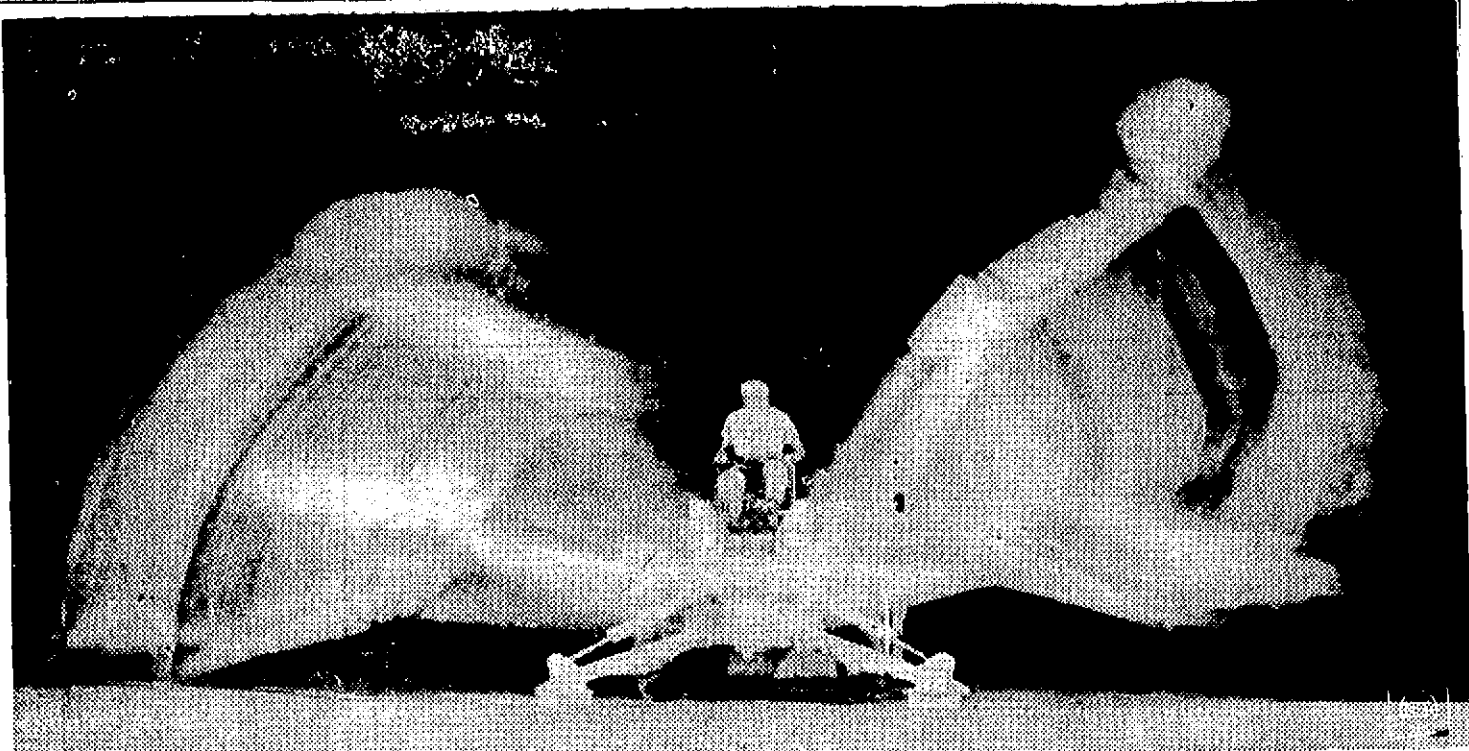

Even before World War II, however, MacArthur had become almost a living legend. He broke records, right and left.

There was the story that, on entering West Point, he announced two objectives—to finish at the head of his class, and to end his military career as chief of staff.

In accomplishing the first, he racked up a 98.14 percent average for four years in all subjects. It was never surpassed.

Later, he fulfilled the second objective. But his career did not end there.

There was the story that he of gravity. But this birdlike creature is not a bug, a plane or a whirling dervish. It's just a backhoe on an International Harvester tractor caught in a time exposure.

also broke a nonscholastic record at the academy. Allegedly, MacArthur became engaged to eight girls at the same time. The previous mark had been seven.

There were innumerable stories of his personal courage, his reckless exposure to fire in battle. MacArthur commanded the 84th Infantry Brigade of the Rainbow Division in World War I, and an associate said, "MacArthur is certain to go far in the Army if he doesn't get himself killed."

At 39, he was the youngest officer ever appointed superintendent of the Military Academy.

At 45, when he received his second star, he was the youngest major general in the Army.

He was only 50 when, true to his alleged prediction, he became chief of staff.

Five years later, when his military career presumably ended with retirement from this high office, he was summoned to the Philippines to organize the armed forces there.

President Manuel Quezon gave him the rank of field marshal.

So, years before Pearl Harbor, MacArthur's reputation was larger than life size.

But it was, essentially, the reputation of a soldier.

As director of the occupation of Japan, starting in the fall of 1945, he confronted a wholly different problem. It was more complex, more difficult, and potentially more dangerous than any of the military assignments he ever tackled.

And it may well be that, in assaying MacArthur's prodigious accomplishments, historians will count his stewardship of the occupation as the most brilliant of all his victories.

Consider the magnitude of the task.

The war left Japan physically battered. Thousands of homes had been destroyed. Hundreds of factories were out of action. Railroads and highways had been mangled and coastwise shipping all but paralyzed. Dislocated water and sanitation systems raised the spectre of epidemics in the cities.

These were physical problems that had to be swiftly resolved.

Even more delicate were the many-sided political and social problems.

For 50 years, Japan had been leading a kind of schizophrenic existence—half-feudal, half-modern. Parliamentary forms, borrowed from the West, had been grafted, but not successfully, on political traditions from the Middle Ages.

The Diet had been merely a debating society. Elections had been all but meaningless. Real power, owing to a curleycue in the constitution, was vested in the hands of the armed forces.

What kind of a constitution should now be written, what was to be the status of the emperor? How, in short, could Japan be transformed into at least a nominally democratic society?

Before the war, authoritarianism had spread a heavy hand over other areas of Japanese life as well.

Giant cartels, the "Zaibatsu," controlled most of the industry and commerce. Labor unions had been a joke. In agriculture, only about 10 per cent of the farmers owned their own land; the majority worked as tenants.

How to change these long-established patterns?

The stakes were great. Japan is the most highly industrialized nation in the Far East. Potentially, it is a military power house, the counterbalance to Communist China.

When the occupation ended, would it remain aligned with the West? Or would it drift into the Communist orbit? Much depended on MacArthur's decisions during the occupation.

Military genius and training, alone, would not meet this great challenge.

Fortunately, MacArthur knew the history, the traditions, the psychology and the spirit of the efficient and enigmatic Japanese. When he was 24, he had gone to Japan with his father, Gen. Arthur MacArthur. During the Russo-Japanese war, he marched as an observer with Count Maresuki Nogi's troops in the bloody battle of Mukden. He had studied the Japanese in war and peace all his life.

He brought this background and understanding to bear on the delicate tasks of the occupation.

For one thing, he did not govern by fiat. A military man might be expected to simply issue iron-clad orders and demand that they be carried out at all cost. To have done this in Japan would only have aroused hostility and invisible but bitter resistance—much to the satisfaction of the Japanese Communists.

MacArthur operated more subtly. He used a mixture of argument, persuasion, cajoling and threats to get what he wanted. He stayed behind the scenes as much as possible.

In addition, he consciously played a role.

Respect for authority is one of the deepest well-springs in Japanese character. For centuries the smallest local lords, let alone the great shotguns and clan leaders, had commanded almost blind obedience from their retainers.

So MacArthur deliberately assumed the visage of an overlord, a grand seigneur, of the all-powerful proconsul. He became in Japanese eyes a kind of imperial figure.

Somewhat raffishly, American newspapermen in Tokyo called MacArthur's headquarters "The Palace" and referred to him as "The Presence."

His detractors often accused him of theatricalism, of overweening vanity and egotism, of playing to the gallery. In Japan, there was a sound reason for the public image he created. He became the needed symbol of authority.

Swiftly, MacArthur's methods produced results.

As early as 1946, the first general election was held. Women voted for the first time and elected women to the Diet.

Reforms in the constitution were effected, a civil liberties decree went in the books.

Meanwhile, MacArthur was modifying the "Zaibatsu" structure. He worked to establish a valid and healthy labor union movement. As his program of land reform took shape, the tenant-farmer all but disappeared in agriculture.

"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

The occupation was MacArthur's greatest task. It may well be regarded as the greatest of all his achievements.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg says dramatist Rolf Hochhuth "did not do justice to that great and good pontiff, Pope Pius XII" in the play "The Deputy."

Hochhuth's play criticizes the Pope for not publicly condemning the mass murder of Jews by Nazi Germany.

Goldberg, a Jew, told the American Jewish Conference on Soviet Jewry in Washington Sunday:

"Jews are and ever should be grateful for what the Pope and the Catholic Church did to rescue innocent Jewish victims of Nazi insanity and barbarism."

More Control Over Military Advocated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, who only 12 days ago touched off an explosive debate on foreign policy, now says "the American people are not now exercising effective control over the military, and neither is the Congress."

The charge by the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a speech Sunday night at the University of North Carolina seemed almost certain to stir another controversy—this time with the Pentagon.

The Arkansas Democrat's March 25 foreign policy speech ricocheted through both halls of Congress, the State Department and the White House. It still is drawing fire in some quarters.

His comments on the military came in a keynote speech to the 1964 Carolina Symposium, a five-day series of lectures at the university on the topic "Arms and the Man: National Security and the Aims of a Free Society."

Fulbright said the military establishment has a vested interest in the continuation of the cold war and its high military spending.

He said the "elimination of superfluous defense funds" would encourage spending on domestic programs, and that "the cold war is an excuse, as well as a cause" for high military budgets.

In his address, Fulbright pursued one of the points of his March 25 Senate speech: He said the nation's interests could be served better by ending the present "morbid preoccupation with the danger of Communist expansion abroad and subversion and disloyalty at home."

He said President Johnson's proposed war on poverty and other education-welfare programs "are at least as important to the security of our country in the long term than a national defense establishment and a good deal more important than a voyage to the moon."

DOROTHY DIX

—HOW TO HANDLE, ETC. BY DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Dear Dr. Brothers: My husband is very handsome, and gets attention from other women. I know there's nothing I can do about their interest in him, but he wants their attention.

He's a flirt. In my presence, he'll hold their hands, and compliment them. He'll walk across a room with his arm around them, and ease them into a corner, or whisper in their ears.

"Naturally, I find this very annoying. I still believe he's faithful to me, and that he loves me. I thought not as much as I love him. I try to conceal my jealousy and unhappiness, because I'm ashamed of it, but when he flirts, I become jealous, silent, and hurt. —Mrs. J. P.

Dear Mrs. J. P.: To some men, marriage papers and a wedding ring are like a hunting license. Before the ceremony, they may have been conservative and courtly to all women. But after they are securely, safely married, they want to act, if not live, the part of a roue.

To many of them, the flirting and pretended philandering is all bluff. A good way to test this statement is to look back over the list of women your husband has flirted with most ardently. I'm sure you'll find that few of them were unattached and available.

Married flirts confine their attentions to women who are generally unattainable. They will select highly moral, or very happy wives, or they will devote themselves to young girls who have no reason at all to be interested in balding men who are hiding a spare tire around their middle.

The play where it is safe, and if some woman calls their hand, and accepts the proposition, or tells them to name the time or place, they are shocked and horrified.

They laugh, and say it was all a joke, and retreat under a full head of steam. This is the nature of the social philanderer. He stands behind the high wall of a happy marriage, and whistles bravely at women behind equally high walls. His whistle is a demand to be noticed, and reveals a rather pathetic need for attention and reassurance.

He needs to be told he's still attractive. Not that he ever intends to capitalize on it. He needs to know that he is free to do whatever he pleases, with whomever he pleases, not that he's intending to do anything bold or different.

This explains your husband, but does nothing to help you avoid embarrassment. It is true that only a professional who is trained in analyzing human motivation would understand what your husband is doing. To the ladies he accosts, their husbands, and the neighbors, he is a philanderer.

Let me remind you of the days before your marriage. If your then boy-friend was as handsome and desirable as you describe, he probably had his way with many girls. To you, he was quite a catch.

The fact that he was so desirable to others made you desire him. And the fact that he was successful with women made him expect to be. Then you were married.

Although the vows created a new situation, they did not make him less attractive. They did not make him less of a catch. As a husband, he's still attractive, and you have an obligation to him and to yourself to attract him the most.

This may be impossible. He may need the reassurance of many women, but to keep him true, you must assure him that you still treasure him. I believe you should tell your husband how you feel about other women.

If you speak your mind calmly and sincerely, he'll realize you still feel he's a real catch. He'll be reassured and satisfied that you love and need him. It is even possible that the reason he's flirting is a test of you. He may want to know how important he is to you. Children and adults feel more secure when they know the rules of the game.

Children and adults keep testing us to see how far they can go. Once they're told, they settle down very happily. Tomorrow: The grown man who bites his nails.

Group Going Out for the Tourist Dollar

By BILL SIMMONS

MOUNT IDA, Ark. (AP) — Leisure time, the automobile and a high standard of living created the modern phenomenon called tourist dollars.

A new group from the Ouachita Mountains aims to collect a lot of them.

The group is the Ouachita Mountain Valley Association, incorporated within the past month. Its membership drive is just getting under way.

Glenn Hickey of Mount Ida, president of the OMVA, can reel off a list of attractions in nine Arkansas counties and two Oklahoma counties, cite impressive statistics, and portend a great economic upswing in Southwestern Arkansas—it several "its" can be solved.

The association embraces Pike, Polk, Montgomery, Scott, Logan, Yell, Conway, Sevier and Perry counties in Arkansas and McCurtain and LeFlore in Oklahoma. Three other counties may become members, Hickey said.

He lists these tourist attractions in the area:

—The only diamond mines in North America, near Murfreesboro.

—Petit Jean Mountain and State Park, near Morrilton.

—Queen Wilhelmina State Park, named for a queen of the Netherlands, near Mena.

—Mount Magazine, highest point in Arkansas, near Booneville.

—Lake Ouachita headquarters, near Mount Ida.

—Skyline Drive, a 54-mile highway being built at a cost of $9 million, stretching northward from Mena.

Hickey includes in his list camp grounds, large areas for boating, water skiing, fishing, and "Mother Nature at its best."

The OMVA has budgeted $15,000 this year, but probably will grow from year to year, Hickey said.

It hopes to advertise the area in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Louisiana and other states.

Money to pay for the advertising is one of the "ifs" but Hickey believes it can be solved when the membership drive builds up steam.

"We've got a good thing to sell," he said. "It shouldn't be much trouble, once we get going."

He said the OMVA has not made a study yet of the potential appeal of the area, but he is sure that the two million visitors last year "hardly scratched the surface."

The two million count, Hickey said, is according to meters which register guests at campgrounds and other tourist spots.

I Shall Return Now Official

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Gen. Douglas MacArthur made his public vow to go back to the Philippines—as he evacuated the island early in World War II—he was reported to have said it this way: "I will return."

Associated Press dispatches of the period report the "I will" version of MacArthur's statement.

But later versions—including those in standard reference books—quote MacArthur as saying, "I shall return."

The Pentagon made it official Sunday. Army sources said historical records had established that he said, "I shall return."

Fulbright to Discuss Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aide to Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Wednesday the senator will follow his controversial foreign aid speech of March 25 with a specific discussion of issues next week.

Fulbright drew strong criticism for the speech, in which he called for a reassessment of problems in Cuba, Panama, South Vietnam, Red China.

The aide said Fulbright would seek to rebut criticism of his speech. He did not say when or where the talk will be given.

Another Quake

MOSCOW (AP) — An earthquake of medium force, apparently centered near the northern tip of Sumatra, was recorded at the Moscow seismic station early today.

The quake was recorded at 3:22 a.m.

A spokesman at the seismic station said the quake registered a force of 6.5 on the 10-point Richter scale. The Alaskan earthquake last week was measured at 8.2 and 8.7 points.

of small lengths of unpaved roads.

"Tourists and vacationers come here, and they drive into the area," Hickey said. "A few miles from some beautiful place they'd love to see, the pavement runs out. You can't sell tourists down a gravel road."

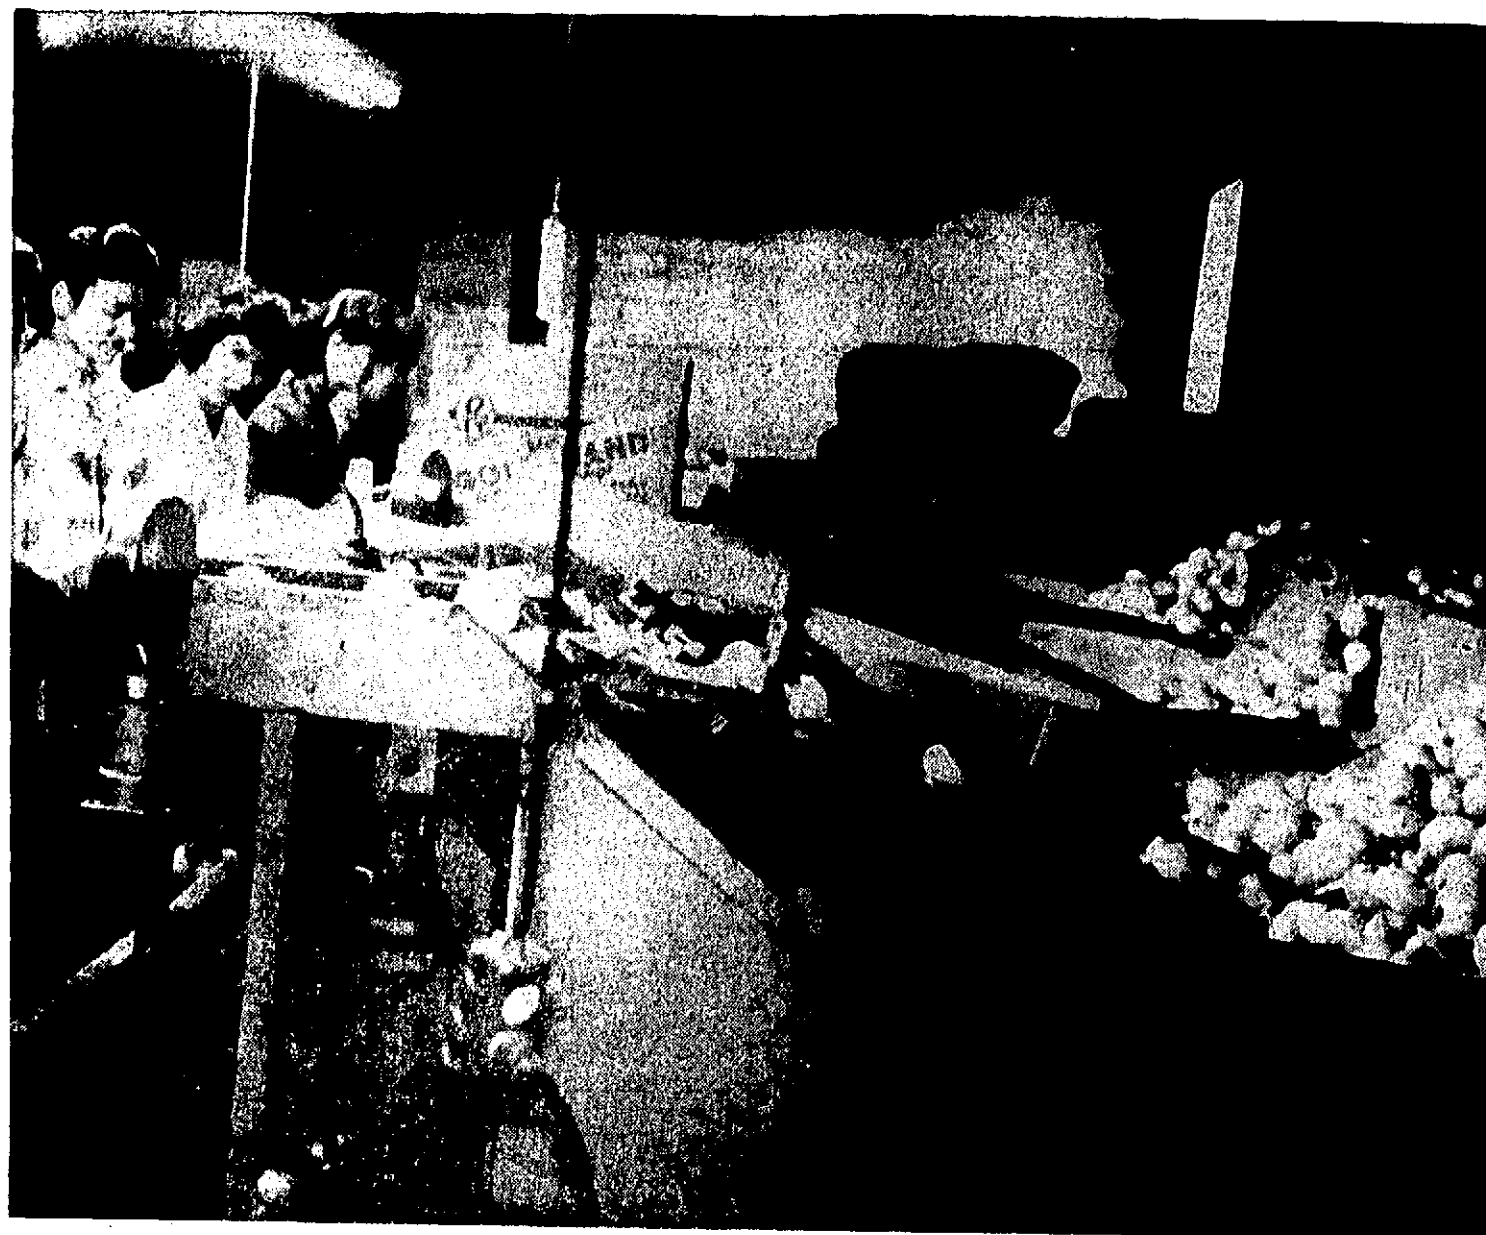

Hickey said he has talked with Army Engineers, which handles construction work in the Ouachita National Forest, and congressmen in Arkansas and Oklahoma in attempts to get roads paved.

"I figure that it'll be easier when we get all the names on our membership list," Hickey said.

The OMVA now numbers about 100 members, the group which formed the association after a dinner meeting in December.

Hickey was elected president. Other officers were: W. L. Amis of Murfreesboro, vice president; M. M. Morrow of Mena, treasurer; Miss Chloe Willard of Plainview, secretary.

Onions Processed Here for Market in the East

C. W. ROBERTS, PRESIDENT OF ROBERTS PRODUCE Company of East Lansing, Mich., is shown presenting a bag of Roberts Gold Band fancy onions to Mayor Frank Douglas, in the bottom photo. The top photo shows workers grading and packing the onions.

THE ROBERTS PRODUCE COMPANY RECENTLY started an onion processing and packaging operation in the former Temple Cotton Oil Company building on North Hazel Street. Onions are presently being purchased in south Texas and are transported to Hope by rail and truck where they are processed according to size and quality. They are packaged in mesh bags of various sizes and are shipped to their customers in the northern and eastern sections of the United States.

PRESENT EMPLOYMENT AT THE PLANT IS 18 people working a one shift operation. Mr. Roberts stated that they expect to go to three shifts within a short time and at that time will be employing 54 people. This is normally about a four month operation, however, Mr. Roberts stated that it is possible that they may continue longer here if onions are available to them from other areas. He expressed his appreciation to local citizens who had been so helpful in getting this operation started in Hope.

McNamara Tells of Viet Nam Trouble

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has done the best job ever attempted by a government official to explain why the United States is so deeply involved in helping South Viet Nam.

But when you get through reading what he says—it takes up a whole newspaper page—it still boils down to a few simple reasons that have always been obvious.

The one thing he can't answer is about the South Viet Nam government itself: how thoroughly and sincerely, through reforms, will it give the people a reason for not being indifferent to a Communist take-over?

McNamara, who made several trips to South Viet Nam in President John F. Kennedy's time, recently returned from another one, undertaken for President Johnson.

The purpose has always been the same: To see how the fight against the North Vietnamese Communists was going and what was needed to make it a success. Instead of getting better, the war has been getting worse.

After President Ngo Dinh Diem's assassination in a military coup last November, the junta which took over was in turn thrown out in a second coup which made Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh the strongman. He is still there.

By this time, with the South Vietnamese government looking anemic and bewildered and with Communist military successes piling up, a long-asked question in this country became more intense.

Can South Viet Nam really win or survive? If not, why should American military "advisers" continue to give their lives there? And why continue that state recover from its recent earthquake.

At a news conference here Wednesday, Udall said vacationers can contribute toward economic recovery there by "making this the year to see Alaska." Udall was here for a regional outdoor recreation conference.

American help, military and economic, which has now reached about $5 billion? This was asked when McNamara made his trip, along with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Upon their return the White House made a statement that Khanh "had a sound central plan" for prosecuting the war and "recognizes to a far greater extent than before the crucial role of economic and social as well as military action."

It was after this that McNamara made his talk which, although made to an industrial association and not to Congress, was the Johnson administration's explanation for its policy in Southeast Asia for the foreseeable future.

It went like this:

Red China wants that whole area which happens to be important to this country's outer defenses. Since, therefore, the South Vietnamese are trying to stay free, the United States, for its sake and theirs, should help. And it will.

Communism, for the time being at least, has ruled out world war, and local wars which might become worldwide, as too dangerous. But it advocates so-called wars of liberation, like the guerrilla war in Viet Nam.

So this war is a test of Red strategy. In saying all this, McNamara expressed high confidence in Khanh's ability to make the fight.

He said the general is not only building up his military and administrative forces but will put in broad programs of land reform, loans to tenant farmers, health and welfare services, economic development.

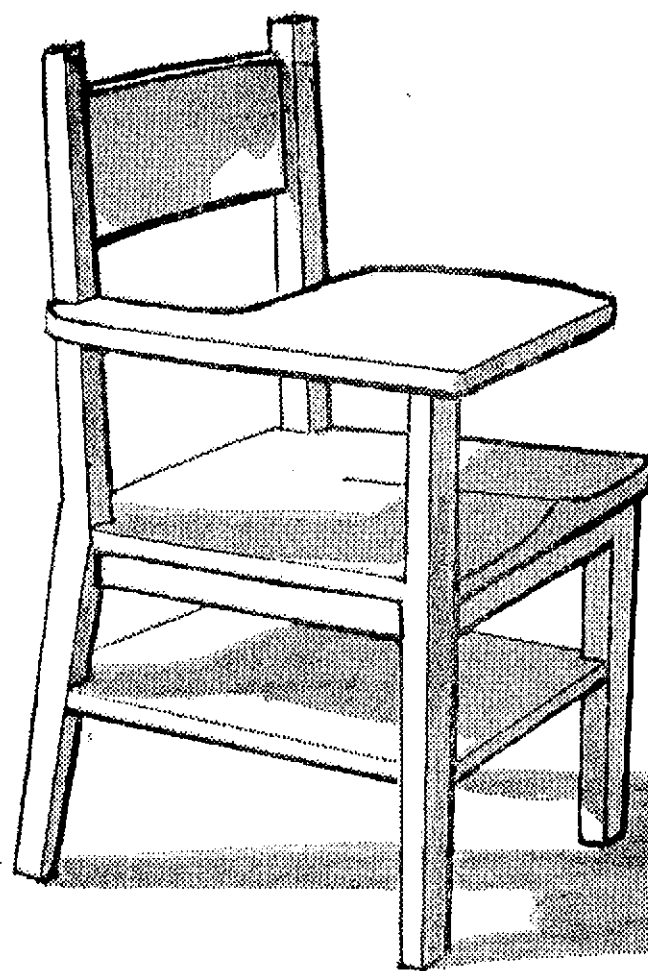

Since such programs are what give an impoverished and backward people a reason for not accepting communism, McNamara said there can be no military success without them.

It took this country a long time to learn something as elementary and fundamental as that.

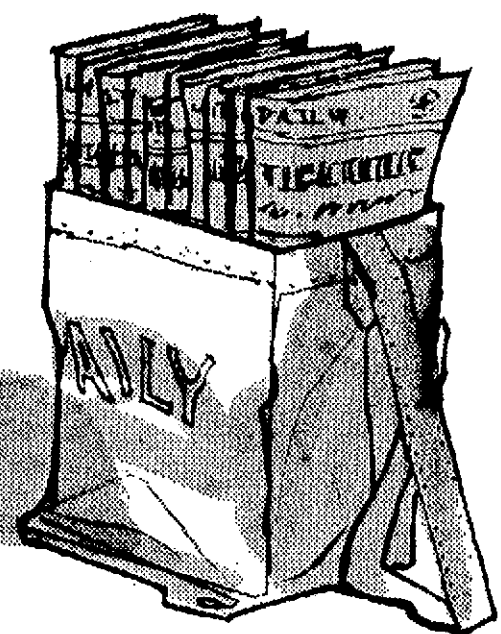

If the United States under President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kennedy had insisted long ago upon such reforms, as a condition of American help, President Ngo Dinh Diem might have still been alive for there would have been no discontent.

And, the war might now have been in a happier condition. It remains to be seen whether Johnson will be more insistent than his predecessors.

TAKE THE ABC'S OF LEARNING

ADD THE ABC'S OF DOING

.....AND YOU HAVE THE ABC'S OF SUCCESS

Seems like a simple formula. But not every boy has the opportunity to add these two ingredients together.

A newspaperboy does. He gets both sides of the picture, the book end of it and the business end of it. He's learning by doing. And his experience as an independent little merchant, buying, and selling, delivering and collecting, keeping his own books and spending or saving his own money helps him grow inside and outside the classroom.

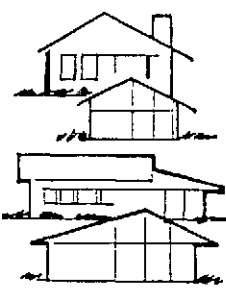

Every year more and more educators and juvenile authorities are joining the 700,000 parents who say: "Encourage your boy to get a newspaper route."

If you think your son might profit by Newspaper Route Experience, our Circulation Department will be glad to hear from you.

Housewives Will Watch Price Study

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

industry may be called on the carpet again to tell why the prices in the stores seem so high when compared to the prices on the farm.

President Johnson has asked Congress to make such a study. And most housewives will watch with interest.

They note government figures showing it takes $10.60 now to buy food they could get for $10 in 1957-59, or for $10.50 just a year ago. At the same time farmers, and especially cattlemen, complain of declining prices at the source of supply.

The President wants to know if "the benefits of advanced technology are being fairly distributed among farmers, processors, distributors, retailers and consumers."

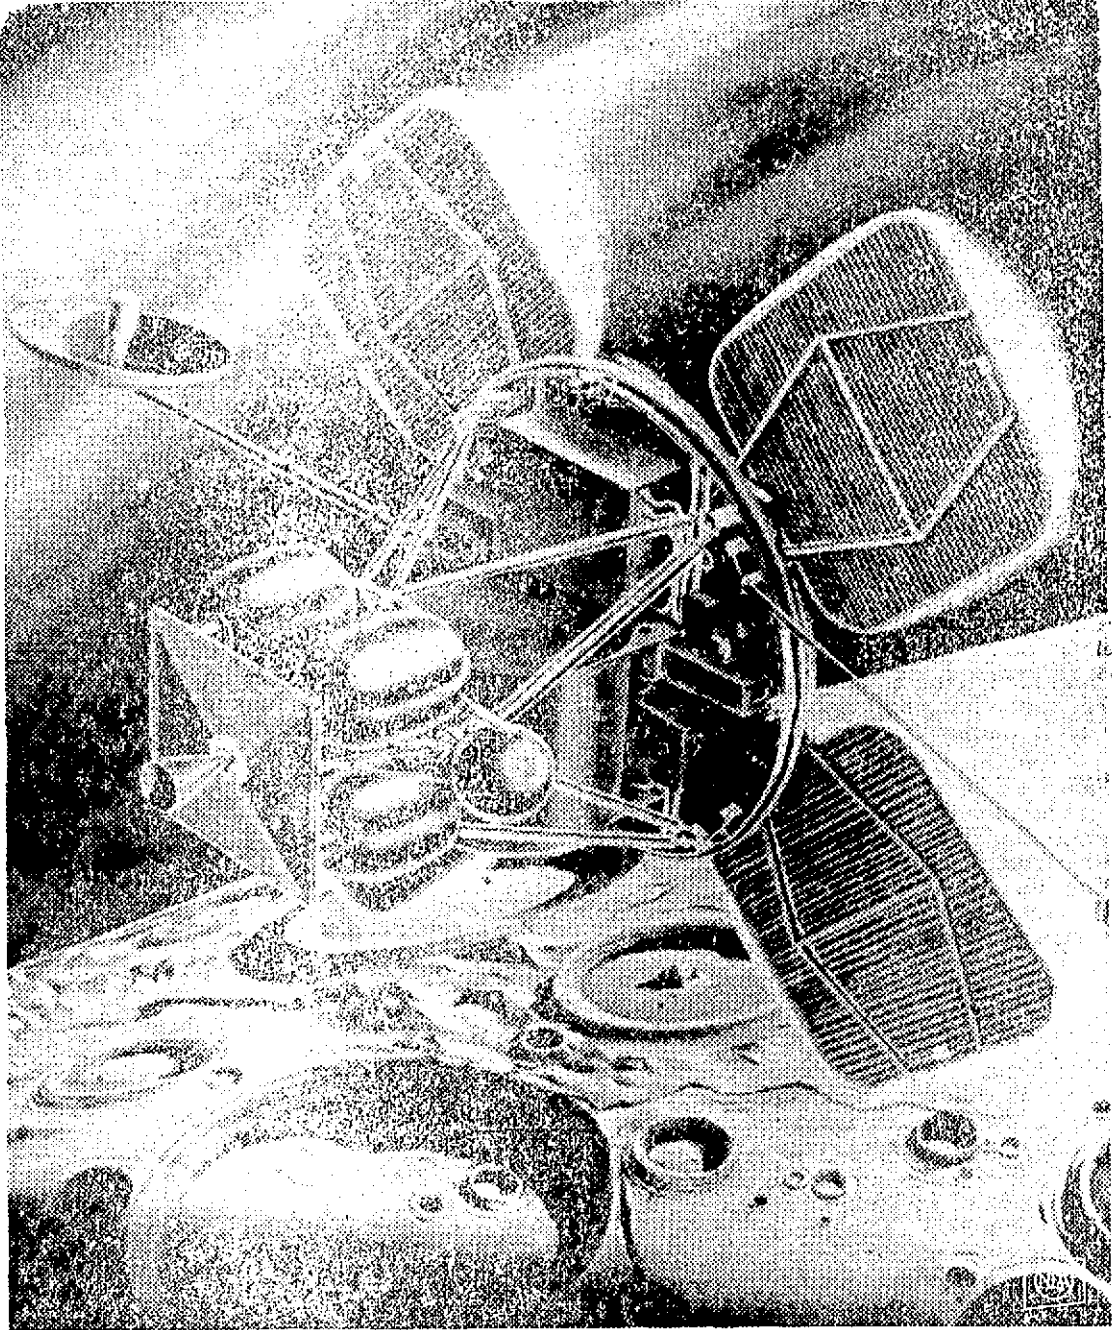

The food industry has been on the carpet before. It admits the wide spread between the price of wheat and a loaf of bread, a steer and a steak.

But this time, as in the past, industry spokesmen are likely to stress the rising costs all along the way to the store from the farm or ranch.

They will point to higher transportation charges from the farm to the food processing plants, and from the mills and packing houses to the supermarkets and corner groceries. The industry also will say it pays more for rent and labor all along the route. And it could add that the customer—or competition—keeps demanding more expensive processing and packaging and precooking or freezing.

The food industry is sure to emphasize that its margin of profits on sales is less than for most other industries and leaves little room for price slashing.

Figures on the relation of profits to sales in 1963 as compiled by the First National City Bank of New York show that for 2,280 manufacturing companies the average was 5.7 per cent, but 28 meat packing firms averaged only 0.7 per cent, 18 bak-

AROUND THE MOON—This is how an artist sees the Lunar Orbiter spacecraft in orbit about 28 miles from the moon's surface. The Orbiter has blossomed from a compact package, opening its petals of solar cell panels and stalks carrying antennas. It is hoped that the first of five of these vehicles to be built will be ready for missions in 1966. It would take photos of the moon, which would be radioed back to earth. Objects three-feet square would be recorded in the film. Overlapping of pictures would provide full coverage of selected areas and a three-dimensional effect to aid moon studies.

Newspaper at Monticello Sold

MCGHEE, Ark. (AP) — Times Printing Co. of McGhee has purchased Advance Publishing Co. of Monticello.

The Times firm publishes the weekly McGhee Times. Advance published the weekly Advance Monticellonian.

W. M. Jackson, president of the Times, said Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Jackson, stockholders in the Times firm, would move to Monticello and manage the Advance Monticellonian.

The Advance offices were recently damaged by fire, and publication had continued with use of the Times facilities. Jackson said a new building will be constructed for the Monticellonian.

The bank's breakdown in profit margins in 1963 shows 59 food chain companies averaging 12 per cent net income on sales volume.

But both housewife and farmer man will be interested in the department of Agriculture figures showing that between 1947 and 1964 the prices the farmer got for his beef cattle went down 13.8 per cent while the housewife was seeing beef prices in the stores rise 26 per cent.

Filibuster Is Firecracker to Johnson

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like putting a firecracker under President Johnson's chair.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Johnson's successor as Democratic majority leader of the Senate, calmly told reporters:

"The Senate, because of the Southern Democrats' filibustering opposition, may not be able to finish the civil rights fight until next fall."

The fight on the civil rights bill began a couple of weeks ago, dragged along, and then got seriously started this week.

No finish till fall would carry the struggle through the summer with just time out for the Democratic and Republican presidential conventions.

Mansfield, unlike Johnson, is a relaxed and easy-going man whose attitude on filibusters, in effecting this one, seems to be: "Let the boys talk."

But Johnson has a lot of programs hanging in Congress from foreign aid to war on poverty.

Some of them could get jammed, hashed and massacred in a long civil rights fight delayed action on them till the last minute.

will want the Democratic presidential nomination so he can try to get elected to the White House on his own.

But he will need some positive accomplishments to campaign on, like a lot of good legislation passed.

Without that, he will be just a man who made big promises but couldn't produce.

He won't be the only sufferer if Congress is still in session next fall. All 435 House seats are at stake.

So the members of Congress will need time next fall to campaign for re-election.

One way to speed up action on civil rights, if that's possible, is to keep the Senate in round-the-clock session for weeks until the filibusters wear themselves out.

But in the process the pro-civil rights senators, and even the indifferent ones, will wind up worn out, too, and that could be dangerous for some in the upper-age bracket.

Mansfield wants no part of such a survival contest. He wants everything as usual, done in a kind of gentlemanly way.

Johnson hasn't expressed himself on Mansfield's latest statement but it can be guessed how he feels for a couple of reasons:

1. He was a hard-driver himself. He didn't let the fight go on for endless months when he was steering two civil rights bills through the Senate in 1957 and 1960, the only two to get through in this century.

2. Now he has an even bigger stake in the outcome than when

THE WEEPING WIDOW MINE

XXXI

The cave, when he finally squirmed his way into it, was filled with light coming out of the shack along with the sounds and stomach-stirring smells whipped up by things Belita had on the stove. The irate Walker and his surly schoolboys had their heads together in a huddle by the shaft; he wasn't bothered by that. He didn't give a whack how mutinous they looked long as none of them got their mitts on a gun.

It got mighty quick plain if there was to be any meeting of minds with Belita Medders was going to have to take the first step. This graveled him, too, for he could tell she figured she had right on her side. "You find that shirt an' them pants—"

She skewered him with a bitter glance, and only then did he notice she had the duds on. It made him feel like a fool. But he presently scraped up voice enough to say, apropos of the truths that lay festering in him: "I make out well enough, if that was what you meant. I look after my own. 'Tain't so much what I find as the lookin' that pleases me."

"Just a flat-footed bum," she remarked with disdain. "I will never marry a man who won't work."

Medders gawped, but the gall of her got the best of him. "I'm not the marryin' kind!"

He snarled, and glowered fierce as any hot-bit bull. "No pants-wearin' female will ever git me up in front of no preacher!"

She tossed the spoon in the pot. "Come an' git it," she yelled, "before I throw it away."

Charlie fumed and fretted his way through the meal hardly knowing what he put into him, scarcely peering any higher than the freckled and florid perfection of Belita's sleeve-rolled arms. He could have eaten fried curbstones with about as much pleasure.

He might lack a few jumps of understanding females, but Jones and the ways of the desert he savied.

He got up and said bluntly: "We're goin' to move ore, try to pack it to Charleston, over beyond the Santa Ritas. It ain't goin' to be easy. We'll probably run into gunfire. But if we git he was majority leader. The civil rights program is his administration's program. He endorsed it, said he wants it, and needs it to point to.

Right here is where the Southern strategy may be most effective in putting pressure on Johnson to make compromises on the civil rights bill, since he has more than civil rights to worry about.

This, of course, was the Southern strategy from the beginning but Mansfield's statement should give their chances a boost.

There's another side to this: The longer they tie up Johnson's other programs, the more excuse they give him to compromise on civil rights.

But if he does compromise, on any kind of excuse, he will be on the spot anyway since Negroes and white supporters of civil rights will be watching to see who yields an inch.

Fulbright Is Pleased With Response

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright voiced pleasure today at the response to his foreign policy speech and predicted the wide election year debate it has touched off will help the Johnson administration.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman's aim in his March 25 address was to stir up public talk on basic foreign policy issues, and he appeared to have succeeded beyond his expectations.

The Arkansas Democrat's remarks to a sparsely attended Senate last week so far have evoked:

Cautious comment from President Johnson and a mixed evaluation by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Allegations of softness-on-communism from some leading Republicans and some Democrats, plus some support from both sides of the political fence.

Foreign praise and protests from Moscow to Formosa.

A far-flung but mixed editorial reaction in the United States.

Bags full of mail still pouring into his office.

At latest count, aides said some 5,000 letters, telegrams and postcards had arrived from around the nation and abroad, and the ratio so far favors Fulbright's stand 4 or 5 to 1.

Fulbright lit the fuse by urging abandonment of "old myths" in cold war attitudes in face of the "new realities" of today. "The master myth of the cold war is that the Communist bloc is a monolith," he said.

In calling for flexibility in dealing with the growing "great variation" among the Reds, Fulbright also advocated an end to the Cuba boycott—a "failure," he called it—and proposed open-mindedness about recognizing Red China some day. He said the public, Congress and executive branch should dare to explore such "unthinkable" things.

In an interview today, Fulbright said "I'm very pleased and somewhat surprised at the volume" of the response triggered by the speech.

"I do not think this is damaging to the administration at all," he added. "I think this is helpful to the administration in the sense that it brings these things out into the open" for public discussion.

He said he had made the speech because in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had named foreign policy as a 1964 campaign issue. The GOP candidates had only issued "a collection of generalities," he said.

Fulbright said he has not heard from Johnson since the speech nor did he consult the administration beforehand.

Opponent Raps The Governor

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—E. T. Ridgeway, 43, Democratic candidate for governor, said in a 15-minute radio broadcast here Wednesday that Gov. Orval E. Faubus' "statements on Hot Springs have caught up with him."

Ridgeway, announcing a "declaration of war," said he was against gambling and any attempt to legalize it.

Ridgeway called himself the "ex-con for governor." He served 21 months of a five-year prison sentence for misappropriation of public funds and embezzlement while he was delinquent tax collector for Jackson County.

Ridgeway also said he favored state-owned and operated liquor stores.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who is expected to announce this week for Democratic nomination to a sixth term.

Spicer and his group have attacked Rockefeller frequently for what they call his usurpation of party control.

Spicer contends Rockefeller will use his influence in the Arkansas party to secure backing for his brother, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Spicer and his forces back Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the nomination.

Rockefeller, for the most part, has overlooked complaints of the old guard, and has continued working to build a two-party system in the state, often spending his own money for GOP activities.

His work in Arkansas has gained recognition throughout the South.

The comments of Charlton said the action killed the GOP national committeeman from Louisiana, typified opinions Southern Republicans.

Lyons said Rockefeller's announcement "gives further evidence of the conservative upsurge in the South."

Boros Has Hot 66 to Win the Playoff Money

By KEN ALYTA

Associated Press Sports Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Julius Boros generated a hot 66 in a 45-degree temperature to catch Doug Sanders and then went on to beat him in a one-hole playoff in winning the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Sunday. It was a sharp final competitive tuneup for the Masters Championship.

Last year when Jack Nicklaus won at Augusta, Boros finished third, two shots off the pace.

The 44-year-old U.S. Open champion said "I'm putting much better than last year, although I'm not playing as well otherwise as I did at Augusta. With my improved putting and this win behind me, maybe I can go down there with greater confidence."

Nicklaus, who defends the Masters title starting Thursday, began the final round here with a three-shot edge over his nearest rivals and was five in front of Boros.

But Nicklaus shot a double bogey 5 on the third hole and struggled the rest of the way. He finished two over par with 73 for 279 and fourth place.

Another Masters favorite, Arnold Palmer, ended in a tie for 13th place with 266. He shot par 71 for his final trip over the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

Boros accepted the $6,600 top prize money with the notation, "We have five children down in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and can use it." He won an additional $400 for the low score of the final round.

Tournament sponsors boosted the prize money an additional $10,000 Saturday night after three days of record crowds.

Boros, with rounds of 63-70-73-66 for a 277 total, was seven under par. Sanders shot 277 in 73-70-66-68. He won $3,800 in defense of the title he won last spring.

Liston Could Take Lessons

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Sonny Liston, who lost his heavyweight title sitting on a stool, could take some lessons from Gustav (Bubi) Scholz, who won the European light heavyweight crown in much the same manner.

Scholz was declared the winner in Saturday night's bout when Giulio Rinaldi was disqualified for a series of fouls which left the German virtually helpless after the eight round.

"When Scholz was unable to go on fighting," the referee said, "I had to disqualify Rinaldi."

The new champion, who had to be helped from the arena, was unhappy with his victory. "It's too bad it ended this way. I'm convinced I could have won the fight in a regular manner, too," Scholz said.

Scholz was hit first by a kidney punch and then by a knee in the eighth round and limped out to answer the bell for the ninth. That's when the referee stopped the fight.

Red Wings Claim Tally Wasn't Right

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—No one will ever convince the Detroit Red Wings that a game-tying goal in their 3-2 Stanley Cup semifinal playoff loss to Chicago Sunday night was a bonafide score.

The goal, credited to Kenny Wharram, came at 5:25 of the final period, only 13 seconds after the Red Wings had taken a 2-1 lead on Andre Pronovost's goal and some 10 minutes before Stan Mikita clinched the victory with a 25-footer past goalie Roger Crozier.

The victory gave the Hawks a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven series.

When Wharram scored the disputed goal, goal judge Grant Easson of Toronto did not signal the red light for several seconds. When the light did go on, referee Frank Udvari conferred with Easson.

Udvari then huddled with linesmen Ron Wicks and Matt Pavelich before again talking to Easson. Meanwhile, the crowd of 16,585 was getting impatient. Suddenly, Udvari signalled in favor of the Hawks and the Red Wings needed a few seconds before climbing all over Udvari.

Crozier, filling in for injured Terry Sawchuk, insisted that "Wharram put it in after Udvari had blown the whistle."

Both the Hawks and Montreal now are in position to end their semifinal series Tuesday night. Montreal took a 3-2 lead over Toronto with a 4-2 triumph Saturday night.

The Hawks are at Detroit and Montreal at Toronto Tuesday night. If seven games are necessary they will be played in Chicago and in Montreal Thursday.

Pace Setting Decision Pays

ATLANTA (AP)—A decision to let others set the early, record-making pace paid off for Fred Lorenzen, the Elmhurst, Ill., Ford driver who captured his third straight Atlanta 500 stock car race.

Lorenzen set an Atlanta International Raceway record when he won the pole position by qualifying at a four-lap average of 146.470. He pushed his 1964 Ford to a record 134.25 miles per hour average Sunday in winning the NASCAR sanctioned race before an estimated 60,000 fans.

Lorenzen's first prize money was $15,150.

There was little competition during the last 150 miles as Lorenzen held a two-lap advantage for most of that distance over second place finisher Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C. in a Dodge. Isaac won $7,750.

Dallas Long in a New Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dallas Long broke his own world shot put record Saturday, but he is still left with ambitions today—two of them.

The 260-pound giant heaved the 16-pound ball 65 feet, 11½ inches—exactly one inch beyond his record set in 1962—in the opening event of a track meet between Occidental College and the Pasadena Athletic Association.

Now he wants to win an Olympic gold medal in Tokyo this summer—he finished third in the 1960 Olympics—and he wants to hit 68 feet.

Both goals appear to be within easy reach of the former University of Southern California weightman.

Northern Dancer Wins in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Northern Dancer, winner of Florida's two richest races for 3-year-olds, now heads for Kentucky and his "summit meeting" with Hill Rise the first Saturday in May.

The Canadian-born Northern Dancer, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, scored a one-length victory in Saturday's $118,500 Florida Derby to add to his Flamingo Stakes triumph a month earlier.

The compact little bay son of Nearctic out of Natalma by Native Dancer has never been worse than third in 13 races and has earned $261,365, including $170,730 in his Florida campaign. Three of his wins have come a 1½ miles, one-eighth shorter than the Kentucky Derby.

Only three of the seven others in the Florida Derby showed enough to warrant sending them to Kentucky. They are Rex C. Ellsworth's The Scoundrel Cecil Carmine's Dandy K. and Harbor View Farm's Roman Brother.

Runs Record 220 for His New Bride

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona State University's Henry Carr wanted to give his bride of six days a present. He did a world record-breaking performance for the curved 220-yard dash.

"After the way Adolph Plummer popped off," Carr said after topping his own world standard with a 20.2 timing Saturday night, "I decided she would like it if I beat him."

Carr's effort bettered his 20.3 world mark set on the same track March 23 last year, but it may not be accepted because there was no official wind gauge on the track.

The fleet 6-foot-3 junior and his wife, Glenda, were married in Detroit, Mich., March 29. While they were enroute to the A-State campus, Plummer announced he wanted a chance to beat him.

The world record holder in the 440-yard dash got it, but little else in their race during a dual track and field meet which the Sun Devils lost to Plummer's Southern California Striders 89-54.

Carr trailed Plummer by about three yards after the first 100 yards, but upon finishing the curved part of the race he jettied away from the former University of New Mexico runner and the rest of the field to win by a good eight yards. Plummer was second in 20.8.

Olympic Cage Team Selected by Coaches

NEW YORK (AP)—There are many basketball coaches around who'd love a chance to pick at the leftovers now that the 1964 Olympic basketball squad had been selected.

But Hank Iba, who'll coach the U.S. entry at Tokyo in October, has no complaints with the 12-man squad and seven alternates chosen after three days of trials at St. John's University.

"I got what I wanted," said Iba, the Oklahoma State coach who has achieved 700 collegiate victories.

What he got was two All-Americans heading a power-packed team which includes three members of the Goodyear Wingfoots, National AAU champions.

Walt Hazzard of UCLA and Bill Bradley of Princeton were the All-Americans chosen. The selection committee picked Pete McCaffrey, Larry Brown and Doc Davies from the Wingfoots.

Rounding out the squad were Jim Barnes of Texas Western, Joe Caldwell of Arizona State, Mel Counts of Oregon State, Lucious Jackson of Pan American College, Jeff Mullins of Duke, Jerry Shipp of the Phillips 66ers and George Wilson of the Jamaica Saints.

Picked as alternates who'll stand by to replace the top 12, were Gail Goodrich of UCLA, Bunk Adams of the U.S. Army, Fred Hetzel of Davidson, Willie Murrell of Kansas State, Cotton Nash of Kentucky, Reggie Minion of the U.S. Air Force and Dave Stallworth of Wichita.

Attendance at Races Increases

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Attendance and mutual handle at Oaklawn Park's record-breaking 43-day race meeting ended Saturday were up more than 9.8 per cent and 9.3 per cent respectively from the previous high figures set at the 1963 meeting.

The total of 450,875 persons witnessing the races this year was an increase of 40,300 over the 410,575 last year.

The $26,979,409 wagered was a gain of $2,299,791 over the $24,679,618 handle at the 1963 meeting.

Crowds averaged 10,485 a day and the average daily mutual handle was $627,425.

The 1964 meeting failed to break only one mutual record. The 1963 meeting had three $1 million Saturdays while there was only one this year. However, the closing day handle of $1,166,599 was the largest for a single day in the track's history.

The large racing colony was in the process of breaking up Sunday, although a few contingents of horses were shipped to Kentucky last week.

Probably moving to Kentucky sometime this week will be George M. Holtsinger's Prince Davelle, galloping surprise winner of the $29,700 Arkansas Derby that rounded out the meeting Saturday.

Prince Davelle took the 28th running of the derby by six lengths over E. A. Dust's Royal Shuck. A length back in third was H. D. Branham's Goff's Gay.

Prince Davelle took the lead at the top of the stretch to return $23.60, $14.20 and $8.60 to his backers in the 18,608 crowd. The time for the mile and a furlong race was 1:51 2-5.

Royal Shuck returned $47 and $21.60, and Goff's Gay paid $16.80.

Prince Davelle, trained by Doug Davis Jr., was being rested up along with his tablemates including another star performer, Davis' own Bates, juvenile champion of the meeting.

The two colts were getting plenty of attention from their proud groom, Phillip Bates, a Davis employee for 30 years and for whom Bates, the horse, was named.

Racing personnel and the 1,200 horses stabled at the track will scatter not only to Kentucky but to Chicago and Omaha with a few probably going to Ohio, Michigan and New England.

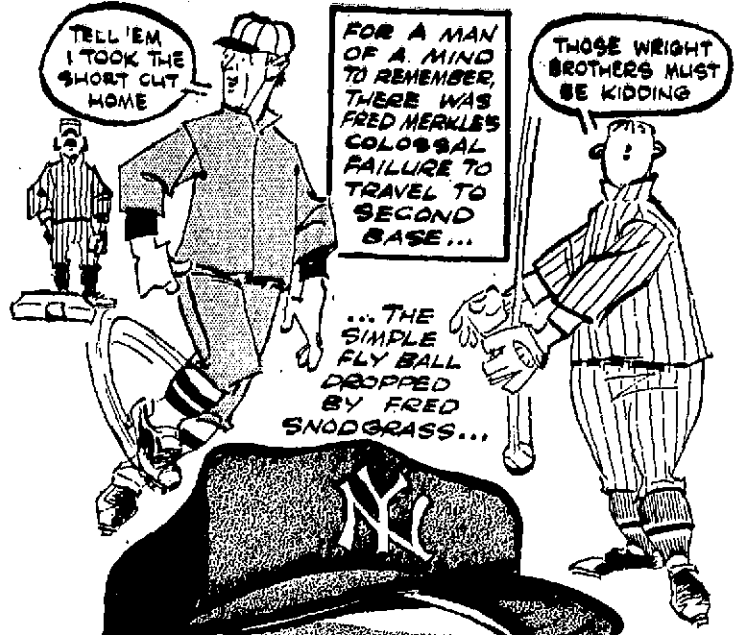

It will require about two weeks for the grounds to be evacuated and during that time the track will be open for training purposes.

Jockey Ronnie Campbell, who led all the way, came out as the riding champion of the 1964 meeting with 48 winners.

In second with 27 winners was Larry Spraker, and Larry Snyder had 26 winners.

Among the top three, Campbell had 28 mounts in the run-up spot and 23 in show finishes out of 198 riding assignments; Spraker had 23 place and 27 show mounts in 201 assignments; and Snyder, who

Cepeda Is Hot for Giants in Spring Games

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Cepeda wasn't a hold-out this year, which may cause National League pitchers to wish they had been.

Cepeda, San Francisco's controversial slugger, is ripping his way through the best spring he has had in his seven-year career.

He smashed his sixth home run Sunday in the Giants' 5-2 exhibition baseball victory over Boston. He has a .419 batting average, three doubles and four triples to go along with the homers.

A major factor in Cepeda's exploding spring play very easily could be the lack of a contract battle with the Giants' front office. He signed for $53,000 and started training when everyone else did.

That was entirely different from last season when he held out for 24 days before signing for a token raise to an estimated $47,000.

He proceeded to hit .316, clout 34 homers and knock in 97 runs, a performance still well below his 1961 output when he batted .311, hit 46 homers and drove in 142 tallies.

The Giants lost to Los Angeles 10-7 last Wednesday, but Cepeda smashed a home run, a double and two singles. In a 5-3 triumph over Cleveland last Friday, he slugged two homers and a single, good for four runs batted in.

Elsewhere around the exhibition circuit, Bob Bailey hit two home runs and Jim Pagliaroni got a three-run blast, but Cincinnati stopped Pittsburgh 8-5 behind John Edwards' three doubles and a single.

Milwaukee swept past Washington 5-3 in 11 innings while Detroit nipped Philadelphia 3-2 in 10. St. Louis edged the New York Mets 2-1, the New York Yankees rallied for a 6-4 triumph against Houston and the Chicago Cubs came from behind for an 8-6 victory over Cleveland.

Minnesota defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1, and Baltimore whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1.
